

EPISTEMIC VALUE

Stirling Management Centre

University of Stirling

August 18th - 20th, 2006

Overview

The goal of this conference is to explore the theme of epistemic value. Why is knowledge important to us? For instance, why is knowledge more valuable to us than mere true belief, or mere justified true belief (or is it a mistake to think that it is more valuable)?

Registration

The cost of registration for the event is £40 for those not attending the conference dinner on the Saturday night, and £60 for those who do attend the dinner. Please note that these places are subsidised, and hence there can only be a restricted number of delegates. So it is advisable to register early.

Contact

To register for the conference, send a cheque made out to 'The University of Stirling' for the appropriate amount and send it to:

Epistemic Value Conference,
c/o Alison Scott,
Department of Philosophy,
University of Stirling,
Stirling, FK9 4LA
Scotland, UK

Please also let us know your full contact address, including e-mail address, and of any special dietary requirements that you may have.

Inquires about registration should be made to Alison Scott (alison.scott@stir.ac.uk).

All other inquiries should be directed to Professor Duncan Pritchard (d.h.pritchard@stir.ac.uk).

'Tree of Knowledge' by Sara Jane Harper of The Wrexham Stuckists

Speakers

Berit Brogaard (Missouri)

Pascal Engel (Geneva)

Ward E. Jones (Rhodes)

Mark Kaplan (Indiana)

Martin Kusch (Cambridge)

Alan Millar (Stirling)

Christian Piller (York)

Wayne Riggs (Oklahoma)

Matt Weiner (Texas)